Henderson Family Graduate Fellowship for Florida Teachers

The Henderson Family Graduate Fellowship for Florida Teachers was created to support Florida public school teachers who are pursuing a Master's or Specialist degree. The fellowship will defray the costs of tuition and fees for up to two semesters in an academic year (summer, fall, or spring). Students will be considered for support if they meet the following criteria:

- Currently employed as a full-time teacher in Florida
- Three years of professional full-time teaching experience
- The fellowship is awarded to graduate students who are enrolled or accepted at either the FSU Campus in Tallahassee, or Panama City, Florida campus, and pursuing a Master's degree in the colleges of Arts and Sciences, Social Sciences and Public Policy or Education. The degree is further defined as an M.A., M.S., or Master's in Education or a Specialist degree, within a Humanities field defined as Economics, History, Classics, English, Geography, Government, Political Science, Reading and Modern Languages, Literature or general Humanities program) or in the Sciences (defined as Biological Sciences, Chemistry & Biochemistry, Environmental Sciences, Geology, Mathematics, Meteorology, Oceanography, Physics, Statistics or a general Science program).
- No one individual may receive the fellowship for more than two (2) semesters in an academic year (summer, fall, or spring). Preference shall be given to, but not limited to, students enrolled in the summer semester, and applicants who have not previously received the Henderson Family Graduate Fellowship for Florida Teachers. Additionally, preference shall be given to, but not limited to, applicants who have no additional fellowship support.

Note: Undergraduate degrees do not necessarily need to represent the above mentioned programs.
